Day One: Monuments, Gardens & Flamenco

We're spending our first day in Seville's old town, starting with breakfast before exploring the Cathedral, Giralda, and Alcázar. After tapas and flamenco, we'll slow things down at Plaza de España and María Luisa Park before dinner at Atávico.

STOP 1 / 8:00 AM

Hotel Posada del Lucero | Monumento Nacional

Posada del Lucero is a 16th-century inn turned hotel in Seville's old town, with its original open-air courtyards still at the...

STOP 2 / 8:30 AM

JESTER Specialty Coffee & Juice

JESTER is a tiny counter-service coffee and juice bar with five shops around central Seville. This was our first meal in Spain and honestly the food...

STOP 3 / 11:00 AM

Catedral de Sevilla

This is the largest Gothic cathedral in the world, UNESCO listed since 1987, and honestly it's stunning. The detail everywhere is so intricate - I'd...

Day One: Monuments, Gardens & Flamenco

Continued - stops 9-10

STOP 9 / 9:00 PM

Parque de María Luisa

Parque de María Luisa sits right next to Plaza de España, so we just wandered over after. It's Seville's main historic park, with 34 hectares of fountains, tree-lined paths, and locals out enjoying a stroll. It's free and open...

STOP 10 / 10:00 PM

Atávico - Ancestral Gastronomy

Atávico is a tiny spot with an open kitchen out near Parque de María Luisa. The entire menu is gluten-free and skips refined sugar and ultra-processed ingredients, with each dish designed...

ALFALFA · ENCARNACIÓN · ARENAL RIVERFRONT

Day Two: The Old Center & Riverfront

Today we're making our way from the old center to the river. We'll start with churros, visit Casa de Pilatos and the Setas, then get out on the Guadalquivir before ending the night with a tapas crawl.

STOP 1 / 8:30 AM

Bar El Comercio

Bar El Comercio has been serving churros on Calle Lineros since 1904, passing from father to son through the generations. The original tiled front is still there, and there's a marble dining room in the back. Nobody seats you,...

STOP 2 / 9:30 AM

Casa de Pilatos

Tucked into San Bartolomé, Casa de Pilatos is a private palace that might be the largest and most lavish home in Seville - and the family still lives upstairs. It's a quieter alternative to the Alcázar, with Andalusian palace...
